DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

For claim 1, the examiner does not know what the applicant claiming for "... having a pass-band substantially equal to said second useful frequency, and said first emitter adapted to emit said first data signal in said first useful frequency band via a filter having a pass-band substantially equal to said first useful frequency band, said first circulator and said first antenna, and..." and similarly phrase is used for a second emitter later in the claim. The entire claim is so confusing and it is difficult to realize the components of the device and how they are bond together with their features as well as what their novelty are.

3. The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors. The examiner holds the art rejection until the claim will be present in a clear and definite manner at a later time. Also please provide a new claim in a clean format without brackets or deleting words or crossed out words.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is not supported by either a specifications asserted utility or a well established utility.

Claim 1 is also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Specifically, since the claimed invention is not supported by either a specifications asserted utility or a well established utility for the reasons set forth above, one skilled in the art clearly would not know how to use the claimed invention.
